Marketing Theories (Text 1) EXAMPLE

By A. Watson (2022)

Although there is some debate as to when	marketing first
$sheer\ number\ o\underline{f}\ marketing\ models\ that\ conti$	nue to exist today. Some of the most common marketing models include	process, which value for an organisation through delivering customer, the Unique Selling Proposition (US	relevant products, services and communications to the P), when 000000000000000000000000000000000000000	competition, and the Brand Positioning Map, which is on against its competitors (Chaffey, 2022). Nevertheless,
of all the marketing	, the PESTLE framework, and Porter's 5 Forces are often the most discussed
The marketing mix tool, first known as the 4	Ps, referring to was businesses were more focused on selling physical products, rather than services (Hanlon, 2022)	. Since the of people, physical evidence and processes in	order to reflect the emergence of service-oriented, as a result of increased consumer power and competition (Brooks, 2022). Most experts ag
-	t as the practical framework outlines every aspect of marketing,	Hanlon (2022)
tool helps to define and evaluate the key iss	ues that could affect the marketing of its products and services, and	set objectives,
hand, Brooks (2022) also argues that both t	the 4 and 7 Ps lack any reference to market research.
Instead, a	needs
and communication, would offer a	more customer-centred alternative that focuses 000000000000000000000000000000000000000	and the customer. Thus, as the ideal number of marketing mix variables continues to be deb	ated, it is limitations.
Another often-used marketing tool is PESTLE	, a simple yet strategic framework which stands for the , legal and environmental factors that can affect a business. Currently, legal and environmental is since	informing themselves of legislation such as GDPR and data protection, and are also prepared to	make determined, greener choices. Thus, as Story (2020)
and Battista (2021) suggest,	and commit to making changes to packaging, waste, eth	nical sourcing, sustainable resources and supply chain
000000000000000000000000000000000000000	, eco-unfriendly bottom line, but also its perception. Thus, the	benefits of undertaking a PESTLE analysis is that it allows an	and other markets, highlight opportunities which successful companies will exploit in order to cr	reate new and minimise threats (Story, 2020). This is	seconded by Battista (2021) who also argues that by 000000000000000000000000000000000000000	can make informed decisions as to what action should be taken within a specific timeframe and po	•
long-term trends, prompting further research	and specific objectives to be built into future planning
	. Notwithstanding, Battista (2021) highlights that to be sufficiently effective, not only does a PES data that is not simply based on assumptions.

Finally, the third and final marketing tool to be	discussed is Port	ter's 5 Forces. Wright (2021) describes
Porter's 5	, parti	cularly
enterprises who are looking to invest for gro	wth, explore the	balance of power between different substitutes and new entrants, the bargaining	power of buyers a	and suppliers, and competitive rivalry.

Both Wright (2021) and Goyal (2020) argue	200000000000000000000000000000000000000	that new companies and new products pose, as both o	f these possibiliti	ies are very likely to happen in such a

In sum, as society as a whole continues to evol	ve at an unprece	dented speed, it is to be expected that outdate		000000000000000000000000000000000000000
there are aspects of the marketing mix, PESTL	E and Porter's Fo	rces that are still relevant today, there

- Students discuss for 25-30 minutes (approx 5 mins per person).
- Students summarise the key points in the last 5 mins.
- Students CAN refer to their texts and notes.

- The group are called into a room and they sit around a table.
- The questions are given out and students have 2 minutes to read and prepare by taking notes.
- The seminar begins with an opening statement we're here today to discuss...
- The students then begin to discuss the first question.
- Each student should make a contribution by referring to their notes / texts.
- The seminar should flow with students adding to what was previously said.
- Once everyone agrees the question has been addressed in full, then they move onto the next question.
- Important: not all the questions have to be answered but they should be discussed in order.
- Once the students begin to approach 25 minutes, they should bring it to an end by each one summarising a main point raised.

4. Points to remember

- It should be a flowing conversation with everyone involved and contributing.
- The teacher / tutor should not intervene if it goes quiet but let the students manage the discussion.
- Students have to show confidence and demonstrate thorough awareness of the texts.
